Relationships developed over many years allow you to experience our destinations through a well-connected friend.

Small groups. Although the camaraderie of a group of like-minded travelers often enhances the journey, there can be too much of a good thing! We tread softly, and our average group size is just 8–10 guests, allowing us access to opportunities that would be unthinkable with a larger group.

Flexibility to suit your travel style. We offer both scheduled, small-group departures and custom journeys so that you can choose which works best for you. Not finding exactly what you are looking for? Let us customize a journey to fulfill your travel dreams.

Customer service that goes the extra mile. Having trouble finding flights that work for you? Want to surprise your traveling companion with a bottle of champagne at a tented camp in the Serengeti to celebrate an important milestone? There is no request that is too big—or too small—for our staff to handle. From your first call, we guide you through choosing your trip, provide advice on preparing for your adventure, and hold your hand until you return home.

Peru | LODGE-TO-LODGE SALKANTAY TREK

Thank you for your interest in this fantastic journey on Peru's Salkantay Trail. We have hand-crafted this tour from our own experience and hope you fall in love with the area—as we have!

THE INSPIRATION FOR THIS JOURNEY

A single day of hiking in the Andes will surely create indelible memories—9 days may change you forever. Our adventure begins and ends in Cusco, a center of ancient culture, exploring the Inca and Spanish colonial riches in and around the city. After a few day hikes to acclimatize to the elevation, we begin our trek along the Salkantay Inca Trail, the road less traveled to the lost city of the Incas. Here, we experience the local Quechuan culture, learning about traditional culinary and farming practices that have existed for centuries in these remote mountain valleys.

Our route winds through the Cordillera Vilcabamba, a spectacular Andean mountain range, before plunging into green, forested canyons. See why the majestic peaks, with their emerald-colored glacial lakes, inspired awe among the local people who consider them gods. At night, retire to luxurious mountain lodges to sip a pisco sour by the fire, soak in a scenic outdoor Jacuzzi, and enjoy gourmet meals prepared by skilled lodge chefs. Finally, our Salkantay Inca Trail trek culminates as any trip to Peru should: with a visit to the famed, lost city of Machu Picchu.

HIGHLIGHTS

- Exploring the UNESCO World Heritage Site of Cusco, with its modern Peruvian cuisine, lively squares and celebrations, Quechua history, and Spanish colonial architecture

THE JOURNEY

DAY 1: Cusco city tour; Sacsayhuaman

Activity Overview: Walking

Activity Level: Easy to moderate

Activity Length: 2-3 hours

After a group lunch and brief orientation, we begin our exploration of the land of the Incas in the city of Cusco (11,150'), a name taken from the Quechua word for "naval" or "center." Here, dramatic Spanish colonial architecture blends with solid Inca masonry in a harmony belying a tumultuous history. Beautiful cathedrals abound, often built directly on top of ancient Inca temples. The juxtaposition of pagan and Christian art and architecture is fascinating.

After our introduction to Cusco, we drive to the countryside for a walk at the impressive site of Sacsayhuaman, where we encounter our first example of the huge boulders the Incas used in their constructions. The stonework of the Incas is unsurpassed by that of any other culture. Massive rocks were painstakingly ground to fit so perfectly together that no mortar was needed, and many walls have remained for over 500 years in spite of tremors that sometimes occur in the area. It is mind-boggling to think of the work that went into producing these temples and fortresses.

We have some time to relax and freshen up at our 16th-century Cusco hotel, which offers colonial style melded with modern comforts, a beautiful courtyard, authentic cuisine, and welcoming staff. This evening, your guide will accompany you to a short briefing with your trekking guide and group at a nearby hotel before dining at one of our favorite restaurants while enjoying traditional music.

Accommodation: Hotel Novotel, Cusco

Meals: L, D

DAY 2: Cusco to Salkantay Lodge

Activity Overview: Hiking

Activity Level: Moderate, with 1689' elevation gain; beginning elevation: 11,001', highest elevation: 12,690', end/lodge elevation: 12,690'

Activity Length: 4-5 hours, (5 miles)

After an early breakfast, we take a private transfer (about 1.5 hours) toward the Quechua town of Limatambo. Along the way, we take a short break to visit the Inca ruins of Tarawasi, a ceremonial center that serves as the resting place of the famed Inca chasquis, or runners, who delivered messages over long distances. The site's retaining wall is still intact and known for its 28 human-sized niches and interlocking stones.

We leave Limatambo and pass through the mountain village of Mollepata, where we stop for a short coffee break and to experience the village's bustling weekly market. From here, our drive continues for 30 minutes along a winding mountain road to a place called Marcoccasa, the base for our trek today toward Soraypampa and Salkantay Lodge. Our wide, rocky path follows an old route known as the Camino Real (the Royal Path) and offers the opportunity to further acclimatize while enjoying the rugged yet beautiful scenery of the Andes.

We enjoy a trailside picnic lunch before continuing towards the majestic Mt. Humantay, which towers over Salkantay Lodge. Upon arrival at the lodge, we receive a warm welcome with local tea and snacks from the friendly staff of our home for the next two nights. The lodge takes its name from the majestic peak at the head of the valley, Mount Salkantay, one of the most sacred mountains in Inca mythology and,

"This trip exceeded my expectations in every way, and I feel like a richer person for having experienced it. Thank you again for another life-changing experience!"
—S.G., Rochester, NY

at 20,600', the highest in the region. We have time to settle into our rooms and explore our new haven. This evening, our guide holds a briefing by the fireplace for tomorrow's hike, after which we enjoy a delicious Peruvian dinner at our cozy mountain lodge.

Accommodation: Salkantay Lodge

Meals: B, L, D

DAY 3: Humantay Lake

Activity Overview: Hiking

Activity Level: Moderate to strenuous, with 155' elevation gain/loss; beginning elevation: 12,690', highest elevation: 13,625', end/lodge elevation: 12,690'

Activity Length: 4 hours (4 miles)

Our acclimatization hike today takes place on the slopes above Salkantay Lodge. Here, our trail turns toward Lake Humantay, a crystal clear green gem surrounded by towering Andean peaks. The lake is fed by the hanging glaciers of Mount Humantay, and the views of the surrounding area are breathtaking. Those who are feeling brave enough may even choose to go for a dip.

We return to the lodge for lunch and the rest of the afternoon is at our leisure. You may wish to forego your icy glacial swim in favor of a relaxing soak in the lodge's scenic outdoor hot tub or a steam in the sauna lined with eucalyptus leaves.

This evening, we spend another night at Salkantay Lodge, enjoying a gourmet dinner and warm, comfortable beds. Before turning in, our guide briefs us on our gear and trekking itinerary for the following day.

Accommodation: Salkantay Lodge

Meals: B, L, D

DAY 4: Salkantay Pass to Wayra Lodge

Activity Overview: Hiking

Activity Level: Strenuous with 2,525' elevation gain, 2,401' elevation loss; beginning elevation: 12,690', highest elevation: 15,213', end/lodge elevation: 12,812'

Activity Length: 6-8 hours (8 miles)

Get ready to lace up your hiking boots this morning to tackle one of the biggest days of our trek. After an early breakfast, we hike up the Rio Blanco valley, circling Humantay Peak across from Salkantay Peak.

The hike is challenging, but the reward is well worth the effort, as we reach the top of the Salkantay Pass and take in the Vilcabamba Range's snow-capped peaks, stretching out in every direction. This is the highest point on the trek at 15,213' and the views are exceptional. We stop for a rest, keeping our eyes peeled for Andean condors, which are often sighted from here. These gigantic birds have a wingspan of more than 10 feet, and an average lifespan of 70 years.

From the top of the pass, we descend towards today's destination, Wayra Lodge, breaking for a hot picnic lunch along the way. "Wayra," meaning 'wind', comes from the lodge's location at Wayracmachay—'the cave where the wind lives'.

This evening, we celebrate our accomplishment with a hearty dinner and overnight at our well-appointed stone mountain lodge.

Accommodation: Wayra Lodge

Meals: B, L, D

DAY 5: Descend to Cloudforest

Activity Overview: Hiking

Activity Level: Easy to moderate, with 3,398' elevation loss; beginning elevation: 12,812', highest elevation: 12,812', end/lodge elevation: 9,414'

Activity Length: 3-4 hours (6 miles)

Today, we enjoy a leisurely breakfast at Wayra Lodge before continuing our descent through increasingly verdant scenery along the left bank of the Salkantay River. We can feel the warm air rising from the jungle accompanied by colorful butterflies and striking orchids. Upon arrival at Colpa Lodge, we are greeted with a Pachamanca, a traditional, festive Peruvian meal cooked by layering meat and vegetables with hot stones. Everything is then covered with more hot stones, plantain leaves, high Andean grass, and local herbs before being baked in an underground oven. A truly delicious welcome!

Colpa Lodge is located on an open plateau at the confluence of three rivers, and the outdoor hot tub has panoramic views of the surrounding lush green mountains. We spend the afternoon relaxing or exploring the nearby orchid trail. The lodge's chef fuels us well for tomorrow's full day of hiking with more Peruvian specialties.

Accommodations: Colpa Lodge

Meals: B, L, D

DAY 6: Santa Teresa River Valley

Activity Overview: Hiking

Activity Level: Moderate to strenuous, with 1,243' elevation loss; beginning elevation: 9,414', highest elevation: 9,414', end/lodge elevation: 7,003'

Activity Length: 5-6 hours (10 miles)

Our hike today takes us along the Santa Teresa River Valley through a more populated rural area. We pass through banana, granadilla, and avocado orchards, as well as shade-grown coffee plantations—including one farm said to produce one of the best organic coffees in the world. There are more than 110,000 coffee growers in Peru, most operating small farms of just 2-3 hectares (5-7 acres) each, hours away from electricity or running water.

This afternoon, we stop for a hot picnic lunch served by the river. Afterwards, we hike another hour before being met by our private vehicle. From here, a 30-minute drive takes us to the beginning of the Llaqtapata Inca Trail. This newly restored path leads directly to our lodge for the night, Lucma Lodge, set in an avocado orchard. Along the way, we stop to visit an organic coffee plantation where we join the owner on a short tour of the farm, learning how coffee is grown, harvested, dried, and processed.

Tonight, we overnight at our comfortable lodge, built into the mountainside of a protected archeological reserve.

Accommodations: Lucma Lodge

Meals: B, L, D

DAY 7: Llactapata Pass & Machu Picchu

Activity Overview: Hiking

Activity Level: Moderate to strenuous with 1791' elevation gain and 3165' loss; beginning elevation: 7,003', highest elevation: 8,974', end/train station: 5,809'

Activity Length: 4-6 hours (7 miles)

After a hearty breakfast, we tackle the last day of our trek, bound for the Llactapata Pass (8,974'). An uphill climb of about 2-3 hours brings us to a spectacular view of the Machu Picchu Sanctuary from the southeast—a sight few travelers ever get a chance to admire.

Nearby, we take a short break to explore the archeological ruins of Llactapata, which have been recently restored. Rediscovered by Hiram Bingham in 1912, the site was the source of further study in 2003, when it was determined to have been an important rest stop and roadside shrine along the route to Machu Picchu, likely playing an important ceremonial role during solstices or equinoxes.

We enjoy lunch at a scenic viewpoint overlooking Machu Picchu and then begin our final descent to the Aobamba River. Along the way, we pass through lush bamboo forests, fruit orchards, and coffee plantations before boarding a local train for a scenic ride (approximately 1 hour) to Machu Picchu Pueblo (formerly, Aguas Calientes), the base town for Machu Picchu. Upon arrival, we check into our award-winning hotel and have one final briefing before our celebratory dinner at the lodge. We raise a glass to our journey together and the completion of the spectacular Salkantay Trek.

Accommodations: Machu Picchu Pueblo Hotel

Meals: B, L, D

DAY 8: Exploration of Machu Picchu

Activity Overview: Touring Machu Picchu

Activity Level: Easy, strenuous option; Machu Picchu is at 7,972' elevation

Activity Length: 2-5 hours; optional hike, 2-3 hours

After a very early buffet breakfast at the hotel, we make our way to the bus station for a short transfer (30 minutes) to the Machu Picchu Sanctuary. Our trip leader gives us an introductory two-hour guided tour detailing the Incan citadel's history from its 15th-century construction to eventual abandonment. Like other examples of Inca construction, Machu Picchu utilizes sophisticated dry-stone wall techniques that fuse huge blocks without the use of mortar. The site's buildings are arranged to play on astronomical alignments and to offer panoramic views of the Urubamba River Valley, though its exact use still remains a mystery.

Those looking for a more physical challenge have the option to climb the staircases of one of two nearby mountains, Huayna Picchu or Machu Picchu Mountain (determined by permit availability), both steep and vertically challenging hikes that take two to four hours but afford great views of Machu Picchu. (Your guides will brief you with details.) After the hike, we meet together again and return by bus to Machu Picchu Pueblo for a late lunch before returning by train to Cusco. The train ride from Machu Picchu Pueblo to Ollantaytambo and private vehicle transfer back to Cusco takes about three hours. Upon arrival in the city, we return to the comforts of the Hotel Novotel and a relaxing final evening in Peru at your leisure

Accommodations: Hotel Novotel, Cusco

Meals: B, L

DAY 9: Departure from Cusco

The trip concludes after breakfast and transfers are provided to the Cusco airport in time for departing flights.

Meals: B

WHAT TO EXPECT

TRIP RATING

Boundless Journeys' trips are designed for energetic and flexible individuals who like to be active and have a spirit of adventure and a positive attitude. Peru: Lodge to Lodge Salkantay Trek is rated 4+, moderate to strenuous, on a scale of 1-5 (with 5 being the most strenuous). The moderate acclimatization hikes on this trip are 3-5 hours at 11,150-13,625' on Days 1-3, with vehicle support on Days 1 and 2. During the trek (Days 4-7) we will have no vehicle support. The hikes during this time are more strenuous primarily due to high elevation through Day 5 (9,414'-15,213') combined with overall length (5-7 hours per day). The trails are generally in good condition, with some loose rocks, mostly gentle ascents and descents, with some sections including steeper switchbacks and sustained descents. Trekking poles are recommended for all guests.

PREPARING FOR THIS TRIP

It is very important that you realistically assess your physical condition with regard to the demands of this trip. The more well-prepared you are for the activities, the more you will enjoy yourself. As a general guideline, we suggest regularly engaging in aerobic activities (such as walking, jogging, or cycling) in the months leading up to the trip. If you live in a flat area, try to incorporate some stairs into your workout, or use a treadmill with varying incline capability. Of course, there is no better training than hiking! We recommend spending consecutive days on your local trails whenever possible in preparation for your journey. Considering this is a moderate to strenuous hiking trip, we encourage add longer activities on weekends. Please contact us if you have any doubts regarding your physical match with this tour, and consult your doctor prior to beginning any new training program.

THE LODGES

The mountain lodges offer extensive comfort and service to enhance your Andean trekking experience. The lodges provide private rooms in authentic Andean-style with full bedding, hot showers, and electricity (powered by generators turned off 11:00am - 6:00 p.m.). Some lodges offer the luxury to soak your muscles in an outdoor hot tub with incredible Andean views, or a soothing sauna. Purified drinking water and spring water are provided, in addition to tea, coffee, juice, and soft drinks. Alcoholic beverages are available for purchase at the bar/lounges. A limited WiFi connection is available at each lodge, also equipped with a satellite phone (for emergency purposes only).

We are supported on the trek by a team of pack horses and their handlers, or arrieros. They will carry our luggage, except for the items packed in your backpack (for example, water, camera, and an extra layer of clothing). Our luggage will be delivered to the next lodge before our arrival each day.

ELEVATION

Peru's geography is as diverse as its culture, with elevations from sea level to over 22,000'. Our trip begins and ends in Cusco, which is situated at 11,150', in the foothills of the Andes. Our first night in the mountain lodges immediately following your stay in Cusco is located at 12,690', where the trek begins, then ascends up to 15,213' before descending into the Santa Teresa River Valley. Elevations are noted along with each day's description. Our sixth hotel, in the town of Machu Picchu Pueblo, is located at about 6,500'. There is time to move at a comfortable pace, while taking regular breaks, allowing ourselves to adjust to the mountain air.

Keeping well hydrated, avoiding excessive alcohol, eating lightly but frequently, and getting plenty of rest will help with any effects of high elevation that you may feel.

We highly recommend spending at least one additional pre-tour night in Cusco to help acclimatize before beginning your trek. You may request additional hotel nights through Boundless Journeys.

WHEN TO GO

Peru is generally delightful for hiking from late April through December, with the clearest skies from May-September. We avoid scheduling trips from January through March as this is the height of the rainy season. That being said, the hillsides and valleys tend to be greener in April, May and June. Later in the dry season the fields turn golden, and the campesinos harvest their crops.

WEATHER

The mountainous areas of Peru have pronounced rainy and dry seasons, which are more responsible for the prevailing weather conditions than seasonal temperature fluctuations. The dry season lasts from May through September and the most significant rains fall from January through March. Temperatures do not fluctuate much throughout the year, although nights do tend to be colder from May through September, and nighttime frost and some snow is possible at higher elevations in July. Any time of year, dressing in layers is a good strategy, so that you can shed or add layers as the day heats and cools.

The Salkantay trek passes through nine different bio-zones and reaches elevations of more than 15,000'. For this reason, it is important to be prepared for all kinds of weather, from cold weather of 32 degrees Fahrenheit to temperatures of up to 86 degrees Fahrenheit. Average daytime temperatures in and around Cusco generally range from 55°-75° F with evenings cooling down into the 40s and 50s. Jackets are necessary at night any time of the year in Cusco and surrounding areas.

The following are average temperatures in Cusco (in the mountains you may expect the low temperatures to be in the 20s at higher elevations):

AVERAGE TEMPERATURE °F (HIGH/LOW) CUSCO
MAY	JUNE	JULY	AUGUST	SEPT
67/39	66/35	66/34	66/34	67/41

You may obtain more detailed weather information by visiting www.weatherbase.com.

TRAVELER'S RESPONSIBILITY

As a trip participant, you have responsibilities to Boundless Journeys, your fellow travelers and guide, and the local people you encounter. This includes understanding and preparing for the conditions described in the itinerary, ensuring it meets your interests and abilities, and following the health and safety guidelines of Boundless Journeys, local authorities, and/or the CDC. At their discretion, a guide may ask a guest to leave the trip if further participation may be detrimental to the individual or other participants.

We strongly urge any guest feeling ill shortly before departure to cancel their trip. To help cover your investment, we highly recommend purchasing travel insurance with supplemental "Cancel for Any Reason" coverage. If you feel unwell during the tour, please immediately inform your guide, who can help take the appropriate next steps. We appreciate your cooperation.

"I arrived home last night and am still in a mental daze. The trip far surpassed my expectations. It was glorious! Everyone in our group agreed that our guide was central to making it all work. He is truly an amazing person. There is no praise I could give that would equal what he actually offers with his knowledge of the culture, his managerial capabilities, and the spiritual connection with the land that he conveys. Thank you for your part in adding so much to my life."

— J.C., Aspen, CO

SMALL GROUP TRAVEL

Small group travel affords us the opportunity to seek out the most remote and exotic destinations on the planet. Often we are exploring these locales with just 6-12 guests. The nature of active group travel is such that not all participants have the same ability level or interests. Traveling at a pace that is comfortable for the entire group, with a spirit of flexibility and adventure are all part of this shared experience.

Boundless Journeys operates this trip in partnership with Mountain Lodges of Peru, which operates the trekking portion of your journey. In Cusco, we have a local Boundless Journeys guide. On your trek, we are guided by a trekking specialist with extensive mountain experience. Boundless Journeys guests will be included in a group of up to 12 trekking guests throughout the stay in the mountain lodges.

DRINKS WITH MEALS

At Boundless Journeys we believe group dinners are a time to celebrate our day, while enjoying the best of local cuisine, and good company. In keeping with this spirit, we typically include local beer and wine with group dinners. If you prefer premium wine, or liquor, please feel free to order what you like, and you may settle your tab at the end of the meal.

DRINKING WATER

We provide purified or bottled water on all trips; however, in an effort to reduce waste, we strongly encourage you to bring a water bottle to refill where safe to do so. This will be the case in much of Europe, as well as a few other destinations, where tap water is safe to drink. In parts of the world where water must be purified, bottled water may be our only option. Here, we do our best to provide purified water from larger containers to refill your bottles, rather than using many small single-use bottles throughout your trip. This is just one small way we strive to travel more responsibly and we appreciate your efforts in helping us to protect the extraordinary places we visit.

Boundless Journeys took the Travelers Against Plastic company pledge to promote sustainable travel and encourage travelers to avoid buying bottled water when they travel. You can take the pledge, too, and learn more about TAP's efforts at www.travelersagainstplastic.org.

CUISINE

Dinners in Peru feature generous portions of beef, lamb, chicken, or fish, potatoes or rice, and fresh vegetables, such as locally grown avocados, summer squash, and olives. Delicacies such as roasted cuy (guinea pig), alpaca, and ceviche (chilled marinated fish) are available on some menus. Breakfast generally features common continental offerings, cereals made from quinoa, as well as scrambled eggs and sausage. Delicious hearty soups are also a staple of Peruvian meals, and are often available for breakfast, lunch, and dinner. Please inform us of any specific dietary restrictions and we will do our best to accommodate you. Please call our office with any questions or concerns about our ability to meet your needs.

TRANSPORTATION

All on-tour transportation is provided in private, air-conditioned, passenger vans.

BOUNDLESS BEYOND

RESPONSIBLE TRAVEL

At Boundless Journeys, our goal is to create meaningful experiences that protect the delicate ecosystems and attributes of every location we visit. We aim to educate our guests on the best responsible travel practices for each destination.

WE ARE COMMITTED TO

Making connections. Our local guides offer insider knowledge of their country, including tips on etiquette and customs. They facilitate meaningful interactions with the people and places we visit, such as dinner at the home of a local family. While you may arrive in a destination as a visitor, you leave with a deeper understanding and connection to each place.

Going local. Boundless Journeys' small group size stems from a desire to provide a more intimate traveler experience, giving us the freedom to move through the tight alleys of old towns on foot, eat and sleep at traditional guesthouses, participate in immersive cultural exchanges, and leave a smaller footprint on all of the locales we visit. This mobility allows us to support local economies directly, forging strong relationships with our partners and friends abroad as we return year after year.

Respecting people and the environment. We support organizations working to protect ecosystems and improve the livelihoods of local communities. On many of our trips, we explore stunning natural landscapes where conservation is of the utmost importance. As visitors, we practice Leave No Trace ethics and actively contribute to the conservation of parks and protected areas.

HOW YOU CAN HELP

Give back. Instead of receiving a Boundless Journeys t-shirt or water bottle, you can opt to donate the value of your gift to our travel scholarship fund, which will be awarded to a local student for an educational or service-based travel opportunity.

Learn more. Visit boundlessjourneys.com/responsible-travel to read more about how our values are reflected in our trip offerings. We also offer a selection of Resources for the Responsible Traveler, which suggests ways to tread lightly and ensure your journey has a positive impact.

Join us. Boundless Journeys has taken the Travelers Against Plastic company pledge to promote sustainable travel and encourage travelers to avoid buying bottled water when they travel. You can take the pledge at travelersagainstoplastic.org.

CONSERVATION IN ACTION

Boundless Journeys is a proud member of the Adventure Travel and Trade Association, a global network of adventure seekers who believe in the protection and promotion of local communities and wilderness areas.
